

NEW WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Innovative NOVA Program Focuses on the Development of Individual and Business Potential

For Immediate Release: October 1, 2008

Contact: Ms. Katreena Arnold, Director,
Continuing Education & Workforce Development
703-878-5754

Woodbridge, Virginia—The Workforce Development and Continuing Education Program for the Woodbridge Campus of Northern Virginia Community College (NOVA) is pleased to launch a new Leadership and Organizational Development Certificate Program and to announce the selection of Stephen T. Redmon as the program's lead facilitator. NOVA is a regional leader in workforce development and lifelong learning for adults.

Mr. Redmon has partnered with Ms. Katreena Arnold, Director, Workforce Development and Continuing Education to launch a new Leadership and Organizational Development Certificate Program in the Spring 2009. This program is custom-designed, uses leading-edge technology and concepts, and provides practical solutions to meet real-life challenges. Mr. Redmon was selected as the facilitator and developer of this program because of his tremendous background and experience; especially his positive attitude and passion for helping people and organizations develop. Registration information about the program will be available later in the Fall 2008.

In response to the critical need to prepare young people for future excellence and success, Mr. Redmon is also working with Ms. Arnold to launch the Rising Stars Youth Leadership and Performance Improvement Summer Camp in 2009, part of the NOVA College For Kids Summer Program. Rising Stars is an innovative and fun self-development process that promotes personal leadership, healthy behaviors, and the attitudes and skills that business owners identify as essential for success. Registration information will be available in early 2009.

Call Workforce Development and Continuing Education at 703-878-5754 to be placed on the contact and mailing lists for these new programs. Spaces for these programs will be limited, call 703-878-5754 today.